The Working Class and the Transformation of Learning

The Fraud of Education Reform under Capitalism

JACK BARNES

"Until society is reorganized so that education is a human activity from the time we are very young until the time we die, there will be no education worthy of working, creating humanity."

Above: Workers at South Carolina BMW auto plant. "It's a lie that the capitalist class needs for workers to be educated," Barnes says. "They need for us to be obedient, not to be educated. Do you have to be literate to work on the railroad? In an auto plant? I don't think so: Everything is color-coded, or number-coded." Below: High school students herded through a security check in Bushwick, a section of Brooklyn, New York. "The deference and obedience the rulers seek to inculcate in the classroom are backed up on the streets by cops' clubs and automatic weapons," Barnes notes.

Capitalism's World Disorder

Working-Class Politics at the Millennium

JACK BARNES

The social devastation and financial panic, the coarsening of politics and politics of resentment, the cop brutality and acts of imperialist aggression accelerating around us—all are the product of lawful forces unleashed by capitalism. But the future the propertied classes have in store for us can be changed by the united struggle and selfless action of workers and farmers conscious of their power to transform the world. Che Guevara Talks to Young People

Ernesto Che Guevara, the legendary Argentine-born revolutionary who helped lead the first socialist revolution in the Americas, speaks as an equal with youth of Cuba and the world. He challenges them to work. To become disciplined. To fearlessly join the vanguard on the front lines of struggles, small and large. To read and to study. To aspire to be revolutionary combatants. To politicize the organizations and institutions they are part of and in the process politicize themselves. To become a different kind of human being as they strive together with working people of all lands to transform the world. And, along this line of march, to renew and revel in the spontaneity and joy of being young. Contains eight speeches by Guevara from 1960 to 1964. Preface by Armando Hart, introduction by Mary-Alice Waters. Introduction, photos, glossary, index. In English and Spanish.

Maoism vs. Bolshevism

The 1965 Catastrophe in Indonesia, China's 'Cultural Revolution,' and the Disintegration of World Stalinism

JOSEPH HANSEN Following the Chinese revolution of 1949, many workers and youth in Asia and elsewhere—inspired by that historic blow to imperialism—were politically misled by the Mao Zedong leadership. These articles, reports, and resolutions explain the communist alternative to Mao's Stalinist course, which in 1965 paved the way for a bloody CIA-backed coup in Indonesia. 75 pp.

Making History

Interviews with Four Generals
of Cuba's Revolutionary Armed Forces

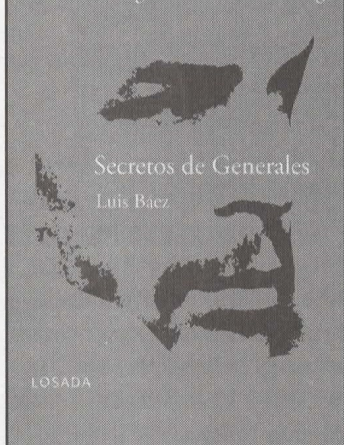

Cuban generals Néstor López Cuba, Enrique Carreras, José Ramón Fernández, and Harry Villegas tell of campaigns in which they took part over four decades: from the Sierra Maestra and Bay of Pigs in Cuba to internationalist missions in the Middle East, in Nicaragua, and in contributing to the victory over the apartheid army in southern Africa. They show the caliber of the men and women who made history by carrying out a socialist revolution in Cuba, and then defending and advancing it in Cuba and around the world. Marxism and Terrorism

LEON TROTSKY The propertied classes have always laid the charge of "terrorism" on those leading the struggle against exploitation and oppression. But it has been the terror of the capitalist rulers against which an outraged majority eventually rises. Trotsky explains why the working class is the only social force capable of leading the toiling majority in overthrowing the capitalist exploiters and beginning the construction of a new society and why individual terrorism—whatever its intention—relegates the workers to the role of spectators and opens the workers movement to provocation and victimization. THE PATHFINDER MURAL AND BOOKSTORE

©ANCHOR FOUNDATION

The Pathfinder Mural, featuring portraits of revolutionary leaders whose writings and speeches are published by Pathfinder, was painted on the Pathfinder building at the corner of West and Charles streets in Manhattan in 1989. The building houses Pathfinder's editorial and business offices and printing plant. More than 80 artists from 20 countries worked on the two-year project. In 1996, the mural, which had deteriorated due to weather conditions, was covered over in the course of major repairs to the wall.

The Pathfinder Mural Bookstore, the retail outlet for Pathfinder Press, stocks all Pathfinder titles, as well as a full-color poster of the mural and other material featuring portions of the mural. The bookstore is located at 167 Charles Street, New York, NY 10014. Tel. (212) 366-1973.

The Revolution Betrayed

What Is the Soviet Union and Where Is It Going?

LEON TROTSKY In 1917 the working class and peasantry of Russia carried out one of the most profound revolutions in history. Yet within ten years a political counterrevolution by a privileged social layer whose chief spokesperson was Joseph Stalin was being consolidated. This classic study of the Soviet workers state and its degeneration illuminates the roots of the social and political crisis shaking the countries of the Soviet Union today. 5th edition. 286 pp., index

In Defense of Marxism

The Social and Political Contradictions of the Soviet Union on the Eve of World War II

LEON TROTSKY Writing in 1939-40, Leon Trotsky replies to those in the revolutionary workers movement who were beating a retreat from defense of the Soviet Union in face of looming imperialist assault. He describes how the rising pressures of bourgeois patriotism in the middle classes during the buildup toward U.S. entry into World War II were finding an echo even inside the communist movement. And he explains why only a party that fights to bring growing numbers of workers into its ranks and leadership can steer a steady revolutionary course. 4th edition. 342 pp., preface, introduction, appendix, glossary, index

Polemics in Marxist Philosophy

GEORGE NOVACK Novack defends scientific socialism—the generalization of the historic line of march of the working class, first advanced by Karl Marx and Frederick Engels. He answers those in the twentieth century who, parading as the true interpreters of Marx, have provided a "philosophical" veneer for the anti-working-class political course of Stalinist and social democratic misleaderships around the world. 1st edition. 344 pp., foreword, notes, glossary, bibliography, index

The Lesser Evil?

Debates on the Democratic Party and Independent Working-Class Politics

JACK BARNES AND OTHERS In three debates Marxist leaders explain why a government that advances the interests of the working class and oppressed cannot be established through support to one of the two parties of big business in the United States. And why backing the "lesser evil" of the Democratic or Republican candidates will not slow down or defeat the right wing. They explain how working people—as they learn through growing struggle that they are part of a class with interests opposed to those of the employers—will build a mass political party of their own to stop the bosses' march toward fascism and war. 1st edition. 128 pp., preface, index

The Struggle for a Proletarian Party

JAMES P. CANNON In this companion to Trotsky's In Defense of Marxism, Cannon and other leaders of the Socialist Workers Party defend the centrality of proletarianization within the political and organizational principles of Marxism in a polemic against a petty-bourgeois current in the party. The debate unfolded as Washington prepared to drag U.S. working people into the slaughter of World War II. 2d edition. 436 pp., introduction, appendix, index

Background to 'The Struggle for a Proletarian Party'

JAMES P. CANNON, GEORGE CLARKE, AND LEON TROTSKY The challenges faced by the Socialist Workers Party in deepening its involvement in the organizations and struggles of the industrial working class in the late 1930s. The SWP must "orient in practice the whole organization toward the factories, the strikes, the unions," writes Trotsky in a 1937 letter to party leader James P. Cannon. 45 pp.
